

R-ALA

R-ALA is a natural nutrient found in the human body and some foods. In the body it is found in mitochondria acting as a coenzyme. R-ALA serves many functions in the body; including that of an antioxidant, booster of glutathione levels, improver of mitochondrial function, and as a chelating agent. With all these uses, it can best be considered a vital nutrient to healthy living.

Available in 100 Softgel Bottles.